

A CALL TO ARTISTS WEAPONS OF MASS

Look around you. The world is becoming more complicated at an exponential rate. The gulf between social and economic classes is growing wider. Work days are getting longer. Families are no longer able to get by on a single income. Schools struggle and suffocate from lack of funding. Social programs wither and die for lack of funding, and public concern.

So many laws, governing every aspect of life, have been passed that most of us can barely keep track of them, let alone follow them. And in the midst of all this our media bombards us with propaganda and hype. The pentagon still buys $300 screwdrivers, and elections are still all about money. This is the time to ask ourselves How did we let this happen? Who is going to benefit? What comes next?
